

Hello digiscrappers!

Description

If you are familiar with the Digi Scrap Campus, well here is where it moved. The previous location was getting lonely, and didn't allow as much material to be displayed. Since it was a forum format, everything was kind of hidden from the view until you went further, making your visit a bit tedious. Now, we are moving to a larger place, with more windows, and a better view. We hope that you will visit and enjoy the new building.

We are not completely moved as we still have many boxes to unpack. Many, many tutorials have been stored literally for years and will be taken from the boxes. It will be a fairly long process but it will be worth it. In the mean time, you can let us know what you would like to see. Maybe we have just that? if so, we will unpack it first. Maybe we dont have it? then, we will go look for it so we can offer you what YOU want.

Date Created

March 9, 2011

Author

myclone