

THEME of the MONTH

Teddy Bear/Plushie

Theme – Teddy Bear/Plushie

Description

Stuffed toys, such as teddy bears and other plushies, are often our very first friends. Children love these cuddly toys. However, some grown-ups are still pretty attached to their plushies, those that have grown with them from their toddler years to adulthood.

They are often gifts from the people we love, and teach us many things, from compassion to friendship to love and affection... Though the teddy bears may have been reduced to a lump of stuffing today, they still bring feelings of warmth, security, and comfort. All that said, we dedicate this month's blog post to these stuffed wonders.

Tails of Bears

People are not the only ones who can develop a profound companionship with stuffed toys. They can also serve as playmates to our pets that can also grow up with these toys, forming a connection between them. We have seen many pets who would not give up their (also furry) friends!

We Heart Bears

Bears may also be a companion for adults, and most of us have a stuffed toy or two when we were young. They are our first friends and our source of comfort aside from our families. These stuffed toys are a perfect element to our layouts with our children!

Family and the Bears

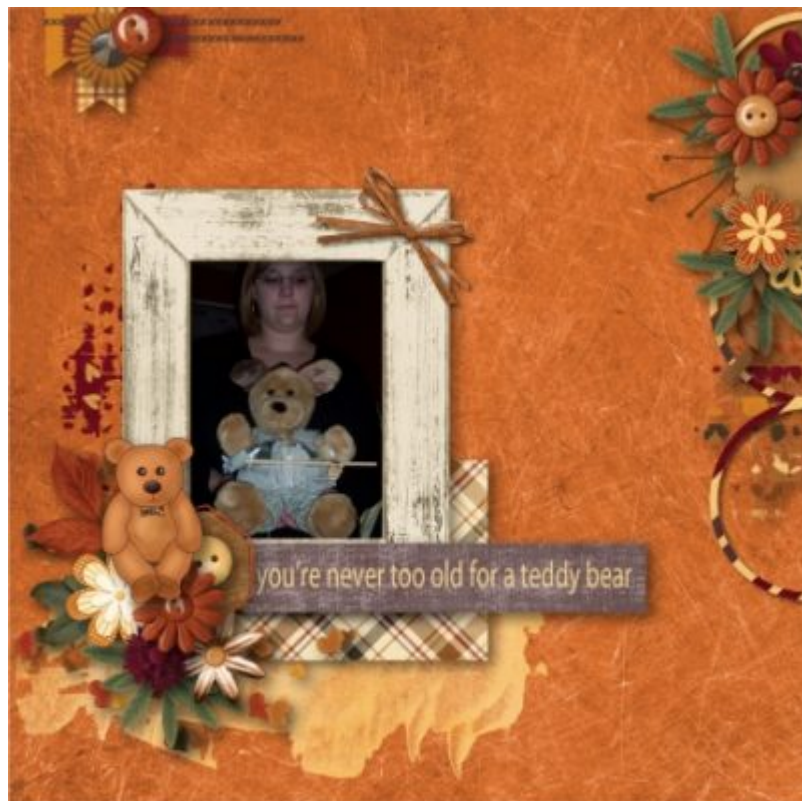

Our stuffed toys were first given to us by our families or relatives and often given as a symbol of love and care. Our layouts need the same love and care, too!

This is Beary Beautiful

These plush toys also deserve to be on their own spotlight, right? Here, we focus on the toys being the highlight of the photo alone.
